

SOCCER'S DAY OF SHAME

MY DISGRACE, BY

I've let down the boss and the team and also myself

BEHIND Billy Bremner's misery at being sent off at Wembley on Saturday was the shame of disgracing himself, his manager and his team.

Bremner told me after this Charity Shield match, which Liverpool won 6-5 on penalties, after being 1-1 at 90 minutes, that manager Brian Clough had warned him and the rest of the Leeds team to stay out of trouble with referees this season.

The Leeds skipper tore off his shirt and hurled it down in temper after being dismissed along with Liverpool's Kevin Keegan for throwing punches.

Bremner said: "I did that because I was more disgusted with myself than anything else. I felt I had let the boss down."

"He implored us only a couple of days ago not to get involved with match officials, to avoid bother, and to keep our noses clean at all costs."

"I think he's very upset and disappointed, but he's not said anything to me — although I suppose he's entitled to."

Clough said: "I shall not be disciplining Billy, there's no question of it. But I shall be going fully into the incident with the players concerned."

"Neither are we going to contest the sending-off, or to appeal against it," Bremner said. "I've never had any bother with Kevin before. He's a good lad. We made it up in the dressing room, during the second half, and then he came in again and told me Liverpool had won the penalty play-off.

"There's no hard feelings, he's promised to buy me a beer next time we meet."

"What upset me is that the linesman ruled I had butted Kevin. That's nonsense. I would never do anything like that."

The fifty-eighth-minute blow-up can be traced back to an incident that happened inside the first sixty seconds.

Allan Clarke tackled Phil Thompson badly, leaving the Liverpool man writhing.

Tommy Smith evened things up later by hacking Clarke off his feet. Then Alec Lindsay, clearing from Clarke, followed through and left the Leeds star sprawled in agony.

It needed only one

Away the lads! Referee Bob Matthewson banishes Billy Bremner and Kevin Keegan (7).

COVENTRY MOVE IN FOR LLOYD

LARRY LLOYD, Liverpool's giant centre half, could be in Coventry's line-up for the start of the season at Newcastle.

The Midlands club have made a £150,000 bid for Lloyd and are ready to finance the deal by selling Scottish striker Colin Stein back to Rangers for around £100,000.

Liverpool do not want to lose Lloyd but he is not content to play in the reserves.

Lloyd, regarded as one of the top centre-halves

By JOHN BEAN

in England until injury cost him his place to Liverpool's new centre-back partnership of Emyln Hughes and Phil Thompson, said last night.

"I don't want to leave but I've got to face the fact that I've not figured in any of the club's four pre-season games."

"If I can't get First Division football here it must be elsewhere."

"I want this situation resolved quickly. I'm hoping something will happen this week."

Sammy Chapman, former Nottingham Forest skipper, has asked the club to reduce the £100,000 price tag on him to improve his chances of getting a quick move.

Forest manager Allan Brown, who had spoken to Derby boss Dave Mackay over a possible swap deal involving defender Peter Daniel, said: "Chapman is a very useful player and I rate his valuation at £100,000."

Asa Hartford, West Bromwich's Scottish midfielder star, is the No. 1 target of Manchester City manager Tony Book.

BREMNER

Leeds' Norman Hunter slams a neck lock on Keegan in the fracas. Pictures: MONTE FRESCO more incident to set off a game already on a short fuse, and Keegan supplied it when he committed himself to a spate of tackles that irritated Leeds.

First he clumsily ran into Bremner, then he did the same to Johnny Giles—and was pole-axed by a right-hander.

From the free kick Bremner went down. Chasing after Keegan, he punched him in the kidneys and went sprawling himself.

Keegan launched himself at Bremner and punched him before Norman Hunter held him in a stranglehold.

That wasn't all. With both men off, and Smith and Giles already booked, Clough's words to his men had clearly fallen on deaf ears.

Centre half Gordon McQueen was involved in some aggravation that was nothing to do with him, and was lucky not to get cautioned.

Problems

And Clough admitted: "I've got real problems now. With Clarke and Hunter ruled out of the first two games of the season by suspension, I've now lost Bremner for the next three.

"Clarke may be out for longer than that with his injury. He's damaged his knee ligaments, and it doesn't look good.

Apart from that, I was delighted with the game. We lasted well, better than they did, and played some nice stuff."

Liverpool chief Bill Shankly, who spent minutes consoling and commiserating with Bremner, took hold of the little Scot in the tunnel and whispered: "I couldn't be more sorry, son. It's hurt me as much as it's hurt you."

Shankly's Red Army of runners had the chances to win the game easily after Phil Boersma had put them ahead.

Trevor Cherry equalised, and then goalkeeper

David Harvey's penalty kick miss sent the Shield to Anfield for the last honour Shankly will win with them as manager.

Proof

Shankly said last night: "We've won the FA Cup, beaten the League champions, and now if we defeat Celtic tomorrow night it's proof of one thing... Liverpool will then be undisputed champions of Britain."

Even so, I take Clough's more fluent, flowing Leeds machine to go further in both domestic and European competitions this season

JOHN PLAYER TITLE RACE

Kent cripples can't last the pace

Alan and Geoff scotch Troon's hat-trick bid

By MIKE RAMSBOTTOM

THE Sunday kings of Kent finally cracked yesterday under the pressure of playing too many times with too few of their stars.

They crashed to a 45-run defeat by Yorkshire at Headingley which virtually kills their hopes of a hat-trick of John Player League titles and leaves Leicestershire and Somerset to fight it out for the crown.

Kent, plagued by calls on their players for the current Test, never looked like matching Yorkshire's 178-9 in which John Hampshire led the way with 68. They were bowled out for 133. Tony Nicholson taking 4-15.

But there's still no stopping Leicestershire (14 games, 50 points) and Somerset (13-42).

Middlesex seemed to have set Leicestershire a reasonable test after totalling 162-7, but another blazing knock by Brian Davison (68 not) made it look like child's play for Leicestershire who got home with seven wickets to spare.

Somerset stepped over Kent into second place

By MIRROR CRICKET REPORTERS

courtesy of a downpour at Torquay. Lancashire had replied with 36 for one to Somerset's 167-9 when rain set in and the West Country side won on a faster scoring rate.

There was history here, too, for Somerset skipper Brian Close slammed another three sixes to take his season's haul to a record 18—beating Stuart Leary's 17 for Kent in 1970.

Now the title race doesn't look like being settled until September 1 when Leicestershire are at home to Somerset.

THE holders, Troon, out... Surrey's Whiteley Village beaten by three runs. That was the drama of yesterday's quarter-finals in the Haig national village cricket competition.

Troon, going for a title hat-trick, were thrashed by nine wickets by Ynysygerwn in Glamorgan. Openers Geoff Williams (51 not out) and Alan Geoghegan (40) were the Welsh heroes as Ynysygerwn reached their target of 128 with seven overs to spare.

Whiteley Village, chasing Steep's 130-8, failed by just three runs but they had the consolation of Mickey Cook taking the man-of-the-match award with 5-22.

Steep, from Hampshire, now meet Nottinghamshire's Collingham, conquerors of Bradford yesterday, in the semi-finals. Ynysygerwn, the new favourites, face Northumberland's Bomarsund Welfare, who beat Read.

JOKER TREVINO HOLDS OFF NICKLAUS

Lee Trevino... laughing his way to victory.

LAUGHING Lee Trevino swept to a cliff-hanger one-stroke victory in the US PGA tournament last night.

A two-foot putt at the last hole gave him a one-under-par 69 and triumph over old enemy Jack Nicklaus after they had brought the Tanglewood course alive with three holes to go.

Until then the American pair had been separated by South African Bobby Cole. But at the 445-yard 17th, Cole could manage only a two over par six.

At the 16th, overnight leader Trevino—"old Supermex"—again—was five under, leading Nicklaus by two.

But Trevino bogied the 17th, to bring them within a stroke of each other for one of the most exciting finishes of the season.

In the end it was Trevino who kept his cool to win the PGA title for the first time. He two-putted from 12ft. . . but it was enough to beat Nicklaus, who had left himself far out on the edge of the green with his final approach shot.

Trevino finished four under par on 276. Nicklaus 277, with Cole, Dave Hill, Hubert Green and Sam Snead all on 279. Gary Player, failing in his bid to be the first golfer in 20 years to win three major titles in a season, had to be content with the British Open and U.S. Masters crowns.

He shot a par 70 round to finish on 280.

Meanwhile, Britain's Tony Jacklin finished way down the field with a 74 that left him on 295, fifteen strokes over par.

Then he revealed that he has firm plans to play in America only once next year—in the Masters tournament.

England stars roar through to world final

By GRAHAM BAKER

ENGLAND stormed through to the World Team Cup Final in Poland by crushing Australia, Scotland and New Zealand in the British zone qualifying round at Ipswich yesterday.

And England team boss Len Silver said later: "I'm only one of the five selectors but as far as I'm concerned this must be our team in Poland. And we'll win."

England crashed Australia's spirit by winning the first five races and even Aussie boss Con Migro admitted: "We never settled down after the way England hit us."

"I could make all kinds of excuses but England were brilliant."

England's victory would have been even more convincing if Belle Vue's Peter Collins had not spoiled his chances of a maximum by breaking the tapes in his final ride.
